STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Secondary Education in Bengal is at present not subject to any unified control There is no authority with power to regulate development according to a planned scheme or to insist upon certain standards being maintained Grants are given to certain schools but not to others The University of Calcutta, which is responsible for the standard of the Matriculation Examination, has authority over the Matriculation Classes of recognised schools but upon the non-Matriculation Classes in these schools it has merely a certain influence The expansion of education during the last thirty years has been extremely rapid and because of the lack of any single directing authority has been upon an unplanned basis All educationists have recognised for over twenty years that reform was essential and in this view many attempts were made in the past to establish a Board of Secondary Education These have hitherto failed for various reasons The development of Secondary Education can no longer be allowed to remain uncontrolled and to drift indefinitely and aimlessly.

The present Bill proposes to establish one Board with authority over Secondary Schools of all types throughout the Province This authority will have almost complete power and, it is hoped, will be able to develop Secondary Education upon sound lines The Board itself is to be a large body representative of all interests and is to be responsible in general for the framing of policy and the determination of ideals The Executive Council which contains a strong representation of expert educationists is to be responsible for the actual administration and executive work Special Committees with statutory powers are to be set up to safeguard the interests of various communities and special types of education

Appeal

6. Notwithstanding anything contained in any other law for the time being in force, an appeal shall lie respectively to the High Court or the Sessions Judge from any order made under section 5 by a Presidency Magistrate or a Magistrate of the first class

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The dowry or pana system in connection with a marriage agreement is really obnoxious and is a standing disgrace to a society in which it is prevalent Not only Snehalatas are victims to this pernicious practice but many cultivator or artisan classes of Bengal are going to be extinct under the pressure of the all-levelling steel roller of kannya pana or bride-money, whatever these people lay by with their sweated labour they lose in contracting costly marriages from their point of view and often become burdened with mortgages and pledges which they can never redeem All the brothers of a family in many cases cannot marry and if a wife is dead he cannot dream of a second marriage Widow remarriages being still unknown utter ruin stares these classes in the face This evil custom is on the other hand spreading its baneful effects on the society of our sister community of common origin, namely, the Muslim community of Bengal The poor Muslim peasantry are constantly complaining that their society is also imitating this ruinous custom from their Hindu brothers Like infectious epidemics of Bengal this pestilential custom is eating into the vitals of the society and is no respecter of persons, communities or classes It requires a strong hand to put it down When society loses its soul it requires a lashing of the severest nature to bring it round to its sense from the stupor and callousness of ages I have the greatest respect for the opinion of those who think that social conscience should be roused by educating public opinion and bringing moral pressure thereon But this also should be borne in mind that social legislation often helps such education wonderfully and beyond all expectations Social propaganda and social education on the lines generally suggested by the social reformers and orthodox social workers should not be minimised and discouraged, but the dog-in-the-manger policy in social reforms must be once for all abandoned The do-nothing fellows who want to burke all social legislations on the plea that reforms must come from within should now read the signs of the times that unless useful reforms are welcome in the social structure which has rusted, the waves of all devouring so-called socialistic ideas will sweep away many of their much beloved social customs of long-standing usefulness before it is too late to mend with the speed of an eastern typhoon Has not the Sarda Act with all its faults helped to raise the marriageable age of a bride? Pernicious customs like the sati and the throwing of babies into the junction of the Ganges and the sea were stopped by legislation Any how and at any cost this evil custom must be eradicated from the social life Attacks may be launched from all possible manner and all possible sides. With this end in view and with the fervent hope that my brother legislators will dispassionately help to place this social welfare measure on the State Book at an early date, this Bill is introduced

No 4441L C —27th March 1944 —In pursuance of the provisions of rule 51 of the Bengal Legislative Council Procedure Rules, the following Bill which was introduced in the Bengal Legislative Council on the 17th March 1944, is hereby published for general information together with the Statement of Objects and Reasons annexed thereto.

THE BENGAL LAND-REVENUE SALES AND THE BENGAL TENANCY (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1944.

A BILL

further to amend the Bengal Land revenue Sales Act, 1859, and the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Bengal Land-revenue Sales Act 1859, and the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885, for the purpose and in the manner hereinafter appearing

It is hereby enacted as follows —

1. This Act may be called the Bengal Land-revenue Sales and the Bengal Tenancy (Amendment) Act, 1944

2. In the fourth exception of section 37 of the Bengal Land revenue Sales Act 1859, after the words ' leases of lands whereon dwelling houses ' the words of any nature and of any description " shall be inserted and in the 2nd line after the words ' manufactories or " for the word other " the word any " shall be substituted

3. In the first line of clause (c) of section 160 of the Bengal Tenancy Act 1885, after the words dwelling houses " the words of any nature and of any description shall be inserted and in the second line for the word other ' occurring before the word ' permanent ' the word any shall be substituted

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

In many cases the highest court of the provinces has decided that unless a dwelling house happens to be a pucca structure the land on which it stands cannot be protected under section 37 of the Bengal Land revenue Sales Act 1859 and section 160 of the Bengal Tenancy Act 1885 It appears that the original intention of the Legislature was to give protection to dwelling houses by the abovementioned provisions in the said Act Great hardship and sufferings are caused to persons who lose their dear dwelling houses if they do not happen to be permanent structure There is a great necessity of an amendment as proposed to give protection to dwelling houses

2. For rule 9 of the rules under schedule II of the Bengal Public Demands Recovery Act, 1913, hereinafter to be called the said rule and the said schedule, the following shall be substituted as rule 9 —

"9 Notwithstanding anything hereinbefore and after contained, at the same time, the certificate officer shall also serve a copy of the notice by registered post in the name of the certificate debtor and in case their number be more than five in the name of at least first five certificate debtors The cost of such notice shall be payable by the certificate debtor and if it is not paid in the period fixed for its payment it shall be realised from the certificate debtor by any process authorised for realising an arrear of public demand"

3. In sub rule (2) of rule 46 of the said rules in first line after the words "after notice' the words "by registered post shall be inserted

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

This simple amendment is proposed to provide for service of notices by registered post on the certificate debtor before their property is sold Similar amendment has been effected in the Bengal Revenue Sale Act 1859 Some times it so happens that the certificate debtor does not know about the filing of the certificate or sale of their property through defect in service of notice upon him or for non service of any notice upon him owing to deceitful conduct of some unscrupulous certificate creditors Hence there is every necessity of proposed amendment

NOTIFICATION

No 4481 C —27th March 1944 – In pursuance of the provisions of rule 51 of the Bengal Legislative Council Procedure Rules the following Bill which was introduced in the Bengal Legislative Council on the 17th March 1944, is hereby published for general information together with the Statement of Objects and Reasons annexed thereto

THE BENGAL AMUSEMENT HOUSE SMOKE NUISANCE PREVENTION BILL, 1943.

to prevent smoke nuisance in public amusement houses of Bengal

WHEREAS it is expedient to prevent smoke nuisance in the auditorium of the public amusement houses of Bengal

It is hereby enacted as follows —

Short title

1. (1) This Act may be called the Bengal Amusement House Smoke Nuisance Prevention Act 1943

(2) It extends to the whole of Bengal

(3) It shall come into force on such date as the Provincial Government may by notification in the Calcutta Gazette appoint

(4) It shall apply in the first instance to Calcutta as defined in clause (11) of section 3 of the Calcutta Municipal Act 1923 to the suburbs of Calcutta as specified by notification under section 1 of the Calcutta Suburban Police Act 1866 and to the Municipality of Howrah as constituted under the Bengal Municipal Act 1932 and thereafter it shall apply to such other areas as the Provincial Government may specify by notification

Definitions

2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context—

(1) "Amusement house" means cinema theatre or class thereof as the Provincial Government may by notification declare to be a house for public entertainment or amusement

(2) "Auditorium" means seating accommodation such as orchestra, balcony stalls galleries first second third or fourth class seats for audience or persons holding tickets or passes for the purpose of enjoying the performance in the amusement house

(3) "Notification" means a notification published in the Official Gazette

Prevention of smoke nuisance in amusement houses.

3. No person attending a theatrical, cinema or any such performance shall smoke biris, tobacco, cigars, cheroots, cigarettes or any other smoking stuff while in the auditorium of an amusement house

Act where not applicable.

4. Nothing in this Act shall apply to—

(1) Places of private entertainment or amusement, amusement halls attached to residential hotels, clubs, boarding houses, railway clubs, military clubs,, docks, wharves, airports and barracks

(2) Lobbies or reserved places for smoking in a house for public entertainment or amusement.

Penalties

5. Whoever contravenes the provision of section 3 shall be punishable with fine which for a first offence may extend to Rs. 10 and for a second or any subsequent offence may extend to Rs 50.

Who may complain

6. Any person above 18 years of age may lodge a complaint with a Magistrate of competent authority about any violation of this Act

Procedure

7. No Court inferior to a Magistrate of the second class shall try an offence punishable under this Act

Indemnity

8. No suit, prosecution or legal proceeding whatever shall lie against any person in respect of anything done or intended to be done in good faith under this Act

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Smoke nuisance of any sort or kind should be attacked by all means possible The smoke nuisance in a cinema or theatre hall due to indiscriminate smoking of biris, cigars, tobacco, cheroots or cigarettes during the hours of performance can be easily controlled This Act will not only be a salutary measure of first class importance but it will be something like preventing cruelty to Indian ladies and children who are not used to smoking by relieving their untold distress and discomfort while attending a performance in a suffocating and nauseating smoke-filled auditorium

It will not inconvenience the smoking public in the least, as they have got lobbies and verandahs attached to the auditorium where they can satisfy their thirst for smoking during the interval between two halves of each and every performance—one half covering not more than an hour or so—or as often as they like

This Bill is a very short one and, if enacted, it will bring on beneficial results—firstly, preventing aggravation of "Calcutta throats" and various chest ailments and, secondly, making the amusement house (now a place of distress and torture for many) a really cheerful and enjoyable place worth its name where one would long to stay a bit longer

115 Barendranath Chattarji—জনযুদ্ধের রূপ ও কৌশল—

Janayauddher Rūp O Kausal [Form and tactics of the Peoples war]—Reference is made to the grave dangers of the inactivity and passive mentality of a certain section of the educated people of India who are said to be awaiting the advent of the Japanese aggressors under the delusion that freedom of India cannot be achieved without foreign aid while forgetting that the Japanese can never bring freedom to India and that their advent will only mean a change of master This sort of self diffidence is a serious thing and is injurious to a nation's tradition and independence as well India is the home land of the Indians whose duty it is to defend her and it is deplorable that they should display a spirit of indifference at this critical moment when international situation offers them the opportunity of attaining freedom of their country The idea that India's weakness is due to her disarmed condition is refuted and it is pointed out that the real cause of her weakness is the absence of a spirit of resistance Attention of the Indians is drawn to the importance of a people's army in this war in which victory is impossible without perfect co-ordination between regular armies and the people, as the present war is a total war and as such needs a total defence which is only possible if the entire people become awakened to the spirit of a national resistance and a firm self-confidence Attention is also drawn to the techniques and tactics of the guerrilla force as demonstrated in China and Russia Published by the author, Uttarpara, Hooghly (20 6 1942) Pages 32 Double Crown 16mo 1st edition Re 0-2 6 Copies 1 000

Jāpānī Sasaner Āsal Rūp [Real form of Japanese Government]—Attempts to disillusion a section of the people of Bengal who are believed to have a sympathy for Japan and to be labouring under the baseless idea that the Japanese will help the Indian to achieve freedom by reason of a curious logic that the Japanese are friends of the Indians, because they are enemies of the English who are enemies of the Indians The change of the phase of the war from that of an imperialist war to that of a people's war require close examination of the Japanese intentions which are nothing but to find a market and if possible an empire also Attention is drawn to the activities of Fascist Japan at aboard and at home particularly where a sham constitution exists to act as a machine in the hands of the rich, for keeping down all agitation of the people for uplift and reform by

Phyāsijam O Nārī [Fascism and Woman] Reviews in general the low position of Indian womanhood while condemning the humiliating treatment meted out to them in the society and referring to the noble pioneers of social reform who felt for the country's womenfolk and worked for their cause Apprehension is expressed to the effect that even the faint movement for uplifting the position of Indian women heralded in through western influence has of late received a setback under the influx of Fascist ideas which have dealt a serious blow to the feminine cause Reference made to the low and humiliating position of women in Japan, a Fascist ally, notwithstanding its vanity of all its progress and civilization Also contains two appendices about the aims of the league of anti fascist writers and artists and an appeal to writers to stand up against the inroads of Fascism which is regarded as inimical to native culture of this country Published by Satyabrata Chattarjee on behalf of the Fascist Birodhi Lekhak O Silpi Sangha 294D, Bowbazar Street Calcutta (20 7 1941) Pages 13 Double Demy 16mo 1st edition Re 0 2 0 Copies 600

(f) the precautions necessary for preserving the properties of the contents to the date indicated in sub-paragraph (d) of this sub-rule

(4) For the purposes of clause (b) of the last preceding sub-rule the date on which the manufacture of a batch is completed shall be—

(a) in cases where a test for potency or toxicity is required by these Rules or, not being so required, is accepted by the licensing authority as sufficient for the purpose of fixing the date of completion of manufacture, the date on which the test was completed or the date on which the substance was removed from cold storage after having there been kept at a temperature not exceeding 5°C continuously for a period not exceeding two years from the time when the last test was completed,

(b) in cases where no such test is required or accepted (i) if the substance is a serum obtained from living animals the earliest date on which any material contributing to the batch was removed from the animal, (ii) if the substance was obtained by the growth of organisms on artificial media, the earliest date on which growth was terminated in any of the material contributing to the batch, and (iii) if the substance is a brain suspension used in the preparation of carbolised antirabic vaccine, the earliest date on which any brain material contributing to the batch was removed from the passage animal

Provided that, in cases where no such test is required or accepted, if a batch of the substance (including all materials contributing to this batch) has for a period of not more than three years been kept in cold storage at a temperature not exceeding 5°C continuously from the earliest practicable date after that on which the material was removed from the animal or on which growth was terminated in the material, as the case may be, the date of removal from cold storage shall be treated as the date on which the manufacture of the batch is completed

68 Prohibition of sale of substance after prescribed date—No person shall sell, or exhibit for sale any substance specified in Schedule C after the date recorded on the container, label or wrapper as the date up to which the substance may be expected to retain a potency not less than, or not to acquire a toxicity greater than, that required or permitted by the prescribed test, as the case may be Provided that a person may at the request of a registered medical practitioner sell after the date aforesaid any such substance (except one that is required to be tested for maximum toxicity) which loses its potency, if he has previously drawn the practitioner's attention to the dates recorded on the container, label or wrapper, and the practitioner is satisfied that the sale is required by the urgency of the case

69 Standards—Every substance specified in Schedules C and C(1) intended for sale shall conform with the standards of strength, quality and purity specified in these Rules and in Schedule E, and the tests for determining such conformity shall be applied to samples taken from the final product after every manufacturing process has been completed

70 Tests for strength and quality—The tests, if any, required for determining the strength and quality of each of the substances specified in Schedules C and C(1) shall be those set out in Schedule E

71 Tests for sterility—The test for sterility in the case of surgical ligature or suture shall be that prescribed in Part VIII of Schedule E

72 The following tests for the presence of living aerobic or anaerobic bacteria shall be made by the manufacturer or by some institution approved by the licensing authority for the purpose of carrying out tests on his behalf in the case of—

(a) sera and solutions of serum proteins intended for injection,

(b) the bacterial vaccines to which Part I(A) of Schedule E applies,

(c) carbolised antirabic vaccine,

(d) toxins, antigens and mixtures of toxins or antigens with serum which are intended to be used in medical practice for immunizing treatment or for diagnosis by inoculation of the patient,

(e) solutions of insulin,

(f) dry preparations of insulin intended for therapeutic use,

(g) preparations of the posterior lobe of the pituitary body intended for use by injection, except preparations which, after being sealed in the containers, have been sterilised by heat in a manner satisfactory to the licensing authority, and

(h) any other preparations in a form to be administered parenterally except preparations which, after being sealed in containers, have been sterilised by heat in a manner satisfactory to the licensing authority

Provided that—(i) in the case of dry preparations of insulin the tests shall be applied with such modifications as the licensing authority consider appropriate, and (ii) if a manufacturer satisfies the licensing authority that he has already in use tests for the presence of living aerobic or anaerobic bacteria in any of the abovenamed substances, and that these tests, as applied by him, will detect the presence of such bacteria in the substance as ready for issue with a certainty at least equal to that afforded by the application of the tests prescribed by this Part, the licensing authority may approve the use of such tests in the place of the prescribed tests, but in such a case the authority may at any time withdraw such approval and require the manufacturer to carry out the prescribed tests

73 Application of tests for sterility—The tests shall be applied—

(a) to samples taken from each batch of the substance before the operation of filling and sealing the containers in which it is to be issued has commenced, and

(b) to the contents of sample containers when ready for issue

74 Amount of smples—The samples required to be taken under the last preceding rule shall be taken in the following proportions —

(a) in the case of samples taken from the batch, the quantity taken shall be not less than 0 1 per cent of the total volume of the batch if the volume is not more than 10 litres, and not less than 10 c c if the volume is 10 litres or more, but shall in no case be less than 1 c c

Provided that if, at the time when the test is made the batch is contained in a number of bulk containers, samples in the foregoing proportions shall be taken from each of such bulk containers and be separately tested,

(b) in the case of the contents of sample containers the number of containers taken for test shall be not less than 1 per cent of the total number filled from the batch if this number is not more than 1,000, and not less than 10 containers if the total number is more than 1,000

75 Method of preparing and using media—(1) The tests shall be made on fluid media, the quantity of medium contained in each tube or other vessel used in the test being such as to secure that any phenolic antiseptic present in the sample is diluted to less than 0 01 per cent

When an antiseptic other than a phenolic antiseptic is used the dilution to be employed shall be that approved by the licensing authority

(2) In the case of a test for aerobic organisms the medium shall consist either of a meat extract with the addition of 1 per cent of peptone, or of such an equivalent as can be prepared by the tryptic digestion of muscle After the final sterilisation the hydrogen-ion concentration of the medium shall be between the limits represented by pH=7 2 and pH=7 8

(3) In the case of a test for anaerobic organisms the medium shall consist of a nutrient broth similar to that used in testing for aerobic organisms with the addition of heat coagulated muscle of an amount sufficient to occupy a depth of not less than 1 centimetre at the bottom of the tube After the final sterilisation the hydrogen-ion concentration of the medium shall be between the limits represented by pH=7 2 and pH=7 8 Before the test inoculation the medium shall be heated to 100°C for a period sufficient to free it completely from dissolved oxygen, and then be cooled to 37 C or lower

(4) The licensing authority may, at the request of any licensee authorise the use, for the test prescribed under either sub-rule (2) or (3) of any other specified medium or method of using a specified medium, on being satisfied that its use affords equal certainty in the detection of the presence of living aerobic or anaerobic organisms, as the case may be

76 Method of testing—(1) In the case of samples taken from the batch each sample shall be inoculated into tubes or other vessels containing the media, one-half of the total volume of the sample being used for the aerobic and one-half for the anaerobic test

(2) In the case of the contents of sample containers the contents of each container shall be subjected to the test for aerobic and the test for anaerobic organisms. When the volume in the container is 2 c.c or more, 1 c.c. shall be used for each test When the volume in the container is less than 2 c.c., the contents shall be divided into two approximately equal parts, one part being used for the aerobic and the other for the anaerobic test.

(3) The inoculated tubes shall be incubated at 37°C for five days and be examined after incubation, permanent records being kept for the examination of each tube

77 (1) If at this examination no growth of micro-organisms is found in any tube, the sample may be treated as having passed the test.

(2) If at the examination a growth of micro-organisms is visible, further samples may be taken and the tests may be repeated on the further samples so taken, but no container the contents of which form part of the batch shall be issued until such further samples have passed the test The process of taking samples from the batch for a test may, if necessary, be repeated twice

Provided that if the same organism is visible in more than one test, the batch shall be treated as not sterile and the material contained in the batch shall not be issued or used as part of a further batch unless and until it has been re-sterilised and has passed the tests

78 Notwithstanding anything contained in the last preceding rule, in any case where—

(a) a substance is required in an emergency by a registered medical practitioner, but the licensee has no filled containers in stock, or

(b) a substance which in the opinion of the licensing authority is so unstable in solution that the delay occasioned by the completion of the sterility test on filled containers would render its issue in active form impossible, the licensee may issue the substance from a batch which has already passed the tests for sterility and freedom from abnormal toxicity, without completing the sterility test on the filled containers, provided that he complies with the following conditions —

(i) the licensee shall before the issue take samples in the required proportions from the containers into which the batch is filled, and after the required inoculation and incubation shall examine the tubes every day for five days,

(ii) if at any examination any growth is visible in any of the tubes, he shall immediately notify the licensing authority,

(iii) he shall keep available for inspection a record of all issues made under this rule containing such particulars of the circumstances in which the issue is made as the licensing authority may require

79 Tests for freedom from abnormal toxicity - The following tests for freedom from abnormal toxicity shall, in the case of each batch of serum, be made by the licensee or by some institution approved by the licensing authority for the purpose of carrying on the tests on his behalf —

(a) a dose of 0.5 c.c of the serum shall be injected subcutaneously into a normal mouse and the serum may be treated as having passed the test for freedom from an excess of phenolic antiseptic if the injection does not produce death or serious symptoms within seven days, and

(b) a dose of not less than 5 c.c of the serum shall be injected subcutaneously or intraperitoneally into a normal guineapig and the serum shall be treated as having passed the test for freedom from other abnormal toxic constituents if the injection does not produce death or serious symptoms within seven days

80. Substances specified in Schedule C(1).—The following provisions shall apply in the case of a substance specified in Schedule C(1).—

(a) The container shall comply with the requirements, if any, specified in Schedule E.

(b) There shall be printed or written in indelible ink on the label—(i) the proper name of the substance; (ii) the number of the licence under which the substance is manufactured or imported, preceded in the case of import licences by the words "Import Licence"; (iii) a batch number, that is to say, the number by reference to which the prescribed tests and details of manufacture of the particular batch from which the substance in the container is taken are permanently recorded and available for inspection, (iv) when a test for potency in units is required by these Rules, a statement of the potency in units defined in terms of relation to the standard preparation specified in Schedule E

(c) The substance shall conform with the standards of strength, quality and purity specified in Schedule E and the tests for determining the strength, quality and purity of the substance shall be those specified in Schedule E

(d) The tests for determining the strength, quality and purity of a substance specified in Schedule E shall be applied to samples taken from the final product after each manufacturing process has been completed

(e) The substance should be stored in a cool place and away from light

PART I—VACCINES

(A) PROVISIONS APPLICABLE TO THE PRODUCTION OF BACTERIAL VACCINES

1 Definition—(1) This Part of this Schedule applies to bacterial vaccines made from any micro-organism pathogenic to man or other animal and to vaccines made from other micro-organisms which have any antigenic value

(2) For the purposes of this Part of this Schedule a bacterial vaccine means a sterile suspension of a killed culture of the micro organism from which the vaccine derives its name or a sterile extract of derivative of a micro-organism which has been prepared from a genuine culture of the micro-organism

2 Staff of Establishment—The establishment where vaccines are prepared must be under the complete direction and control of a competent expert in bacteriology, who must be assisted by a staff adequate for carrying out the tests required during the preparation of the vaccines and in connection with the finished products

3 Proper Name—The proper name of any vaccine shall be the name of the micro-organism from which it is made, followed by the word "vaccine" unless this Schedule otherwise provides or, if there is no special provision in this Schedule some other name is approved by the licensing authority Provided that in the case of the undermentioned preparations the proper name of the vaccine may be as follows —

Anti cholera vaccine,
Anti typhoid vaccine,
Anti typhoid paratyphoid vaccine (T A B)
Anti typhoid paratyphoid-cholera vaccine (T A B C), Antiplague vaccine,

5 Combined Vaccines—Vaccines may be issued either singly or combined in any proportion in the same container In the case of combinations of vaccine a name for the combined vaccine may be submitted by the licensee to the licensing authority, and, if approved, may be used as the proper name of the vaccine

6 Labelling—(1) The label on the container shall indicate the composition of the vaccine by reference either —

(a) to the number of micro-organisms per c c , or

(b) to the weight of dried substance of micro-organisms per c c , or

(c) to the number of micro-organisms or weight of dried substance of micro-organisms used in preparing 1 c c of the finished product

In the case of a combined vaccine the reference to the number of micro-organisms per c c or to the weight of dried substance of micro-organism shall distinguish between the several kinds of contributing micro-organisms

(2) If the vaccine as issued for sale is combined with any substance other than a simple diluent, the exact nature and strength of such substance must be stated on the label

7 Tests—In the case of any vaccine prepared from a micro-organism which does not grow readily in ordinary culture media each batch of the vaccine shall in addition to being submitted to the general tests for sterility prescribed in the Rules under the Act, be tested either in a similar manner on media which are specially favourable to the growth of the particular micro-organism from which the vaccine was prepared or by injection into an animal of a species known to be susceptible to infection by the particular organism and no material from any batch shall be issued unless the batch has passed one of these tests

6 Labelling—(1) The label on the container or a label or wrapper affixed to the package in which the container is issued for sale shall bear a statement that the potency of the vaccine lymph cannot be assured for more than seven days from the date of completion of manufacture, unless the lymph is kept at a temperature below 10°C

(2) For the purpose of Rule 67(3)(b) the date on which the manufacture of the batch is completed shall be the date on which the vaccine lymph is removed for issue from cold storage after having been kept continuously at a temperature below 0°C since the date of filling into tubes for issue

7 Tests for purity—(1) During the exposure of the vaccine lymph to the action of glycerol or other partial disinfectant under suitable conditions of temperature the number and nature of the living bacteria and other visible micro-organisms present shall be periodically determined, the results being recorded and the records being kept for inspection These determinations shall be made by the preparation of plate cultures in the manner provided in sub-paragraph (b) of the next succeeding paragraph and by enumeration of the colonies appearing on incubation for two days at approximately 37°C, and then for at least three days at approximately 20°C This treatment and examination of the vaccine lymph shall continue until the total number of living bacteria and other visible micro-organisms present has been reduced to not more than 5 in 1 milligram or 5,000 in 1 c c of the vaccine lymph, and no vaccine lymph shall be issued until this reduction has been effected

(2) Each batch of vaccine lymph shall be submitted to the following tests for the presence of living gas-producing anaerobic organisms and for the presence of haemolytic streptococci —

2 Old Tuberculin—(1) Old Tuberculin is the concentrated filtrate from the growth of Bacillus tuberculosis on a suitable nutrient broth For its preparation the bacillus must be grown at approximately 37°C for a period, usually not less than 6 weeks, sufficient to allow the surface of the fluid medium to become covered by a thick growth of the bacillus At the end of this period the fluid medium, from which the bacilli may or may not have been previously separated by filtration, must be concentrated by evaporation to one-tenth of its original volume, and then be filtered If the required test for potency shows that the preparation so concentrated is more potent than the standard preparation, the potency may be reduced to the required degree by appropriate dilution If the test shows that the potency is less than that of the standard preparation it shall not be increased by further evaporation The proper name of the preparation is "Old Tuberculin," with or without a suffix such as T, or P T The suffix T if used, will indicate that the bacillus used in preparing the Tuberculin was obtained from a case of human infection and the suffix P T that the bacillus used was obtained from a case of bovine infection

(2) The standard preparation of Old Tuberculin is a quantity of Old Tuberculin kept in the National Institute for Medical Research, Hampstead

(3) Each batch of Old Tuberculin shall be tested for potency by observation of its specific toxicity, by a method approved by the licensing authority, in such a way that the potency of the preparation under test is measured by comparison with that of the standard preparation Old Tuberculin shall not be issued if its activity differs from that of the standard preparation to such an extent that the difference is revealed by the test

(4) Each batch of Old Tuberculin shall be tested for the absence of non specific toxicity by the subcutaneous injection of 0 5 c c into a normal guinea-pig and shall be treated as having passed the test if such injection does not cause death or serious symptoms

(2) Each batch of Tuberculin Boullion Filtrate shall be tested for the absence of non-specific toxicity by the subcutaneous injection of 5 c c into a normal guinea pig and shall be treated as having passed the test if such injection does not cause death or serious symptoms

4 Test for sterility—All tuberculins shall be tested for sterility in accordance with Rules 74 to 77 Tuberculin Boullion Filtrate shall be tested in addition for absence of living tubercle bacilli by a method satisfactory to the licensing authority

TUBERCLE VACCINES

5 Definition and proper name—Tubercle vaccines are preparations made from the bacillary substance obtained by growth of the Bacillus tuberculosis on artificial media and consisting of suspensions of the killed organisms or of products therefrom in water or other suitable suspending fluids The proper name is "Tubercle Vaccine," and any other descriptive title or symbol indicating the origin of the bacilli or the nature of the process of preparation must be used in addition to and not in substitution for the name "Tubercle Vaccine"

1. Conditions and housing of animals.—(1) The animals used in the production of sera must be adequately and healthily housed.

(2) Only healthy animals may be used in the preparation of sera, and in particular the presence of glanders in horses or other equidae and of tuberculosis in cattle must be excluded by testing with mallein and tuberculin respectively.

(3) Every new animal intended to be used as a source of serum must be subjected to a period of observation in quarantine for at least 7 days before being admitted to the stables in which the serum-yielding animals are housed.

(4) Every animal used as a source of serum must either be actively immunized against tetaneous toxin or must be passively immunized against that toxin by injections of tetanus antitoxin in such doses as to ensure the constant presence of that antitoxin in the blood during the whole period of the use of the animal as a source of serum.

2. Staff of Establishment.—The establishment must be under the complete direction and control of a competent expert in bacteriology and serology, assisted by a staff adequate for carrying out the tests required during the preparation of the sera and in connection with the finished products.

3. Precautions to be observed in preparation.—(1) Laboratories where sera are exposed to the air in the course of the process of preparation must be separated by a sufficient distance from stables and animal houses to avoid the risk of aerial contamination with bacteria from animal excreta, and must be rendered fly-proof to prevent such contamination by insects. Such laboratories must have impervious walls and floors and must be capable of being readily disinfected when necessary.

(2) A special room with impervious walls and floor which can be washed and, when necessary, chemically disinfected must be provided for the collection of blood from the living animal.

(3) An efficient system of manure removal must be used which will prevent its accumulation in the vicinity of any room where blood or serum is collected or handled.

(4) An adequate number of efficient sterilisers must be provided for the sterilisation of all glass-ware or other apparatus with which the serum may come into contact in the course of its preparation

(5) All processes to which the serum is subjected during and after its collection from the animal, must be designed to preserve its sterility, but in the case of artificially concentrated sera, it shall suffice that the process of concentration is conducted with scrupulous cleanliness and in such a manner as to avoid unnecessary or dangerous contamination

(6) The laboratories in which the testing of the sera for potency, sterility and freedom from abnormal toxicity are carried out must be adequate for the purpose An adequate supply of animals for use in such tests and suitable housing for such animals must be provided

(7) Provision must be made for complying with any special conditions which may be laid down in this Schedule relating to the production and issue of the particular serum, in respect of which the licence is granted

4 Unhealthy or infected animals—If an animal used in the production of sera is found to be suffering from an infection, except one produced by living organisms against which it is being immunised, or shows signs of serious or persistent ill health not reasonably attributable to the process of immunization, the licensee shall immediately report the matter to the licensing authority and shall, if the authority orders an inspection and the inspector so directs, cause such animal to be killed and a post mortem examination of it to be made, and take steps to prevent any serum obtained from the animal being sold or offered for sale until permission is given by the authority If the result of the post-mortem examination is such as to bring under suspicion the health of any of the other animals used for the production of sera, the licensing authority may prohibit the use of those animals for the production of sera or may take such other steps as may be necessary to prevent the issue of sera which may be dangerous to human health

Provided that in a case of emergency the person in charge of the establishment may order the destruction of an animal used in the production of sera and suspected of infection and shall in that case give notice forthwith to the licensing authority and shall permit an inspector to be present at the post mortem examination

Test for potency—A suitable solution of adrenaline hydrochloride injected intravenously into a cat or a dog by the methods described below produces a rise in the systolic blood-pressure of the animal corresponding to that produced by an equal amount of a solution of Adrenaline B P

(i) Preparation of the solution for the test—The following method is suggested —Weigh accurately about 0 050 Gm of standard Adrenaline dissolve it in 5 c c of N/10 Hydrochloric acid and dilute this to 50 c c by the addition of distilled water, thus making a 1 in 1,000 solution This solution must be recently prepared, otherwise it deteriorates It will keep for a short time if preserved in hard glass containers in a refrigerator, but it must be discarded if any signs of deterioration, such as discolouration are observed

Suitable dilutions of the standard Adrenaline solutions may then be made in physiological saline for comparison with an equivalent dilution of Liq Adrenaline Hydrochloridi to be tested

(ii) Methods of Comparison of Potency—Either of the following methods may be adopted —

(A) For the purpose of the assay a full grown cat preferably male should be used The cat should be anaesthetised with a suitable anaesthetic the spinal chord should be divided and the brain destroyed the respiration being maintained artificially The bloodpressure is estimated by inserting a cannula into the carotid artery and connecting the same with a mercury manometer which records on a moving drum The injections are made into the exposed femoral vein The blood pressure must be low and must not vary before experiments are started

Determine the amount of standard solution necessary to cause a sub-maximal rise in blood-pressure by injecting intravenously varying doses of the solution at regular intervals and after a satisfactory dose has been ascertained, the uniformity of reaction should be tested by the injection of two or more doses of equal size If these injections produce approximately equal increases in blood-pressure, alternate injections of the solution to be tested and of the standard are made carrying the amount of the unknown until two or more successive injections raised the blood-pressure to the same height, indicating that the amount of active agent is the same in doses used From the results thus obtained, the strength of the unknown solution may be determined and adjusted

(B) For the purpose of the assay, a dog of medium size should be used The animal should be anaesthetised with a suitable anaesthetic and maintained under artificial respiration It is prepared for blood-pressure estimations by inserting a cannula into the carotid artery and connecting the same with a mercury manometer which records on a moving drum The injections are made into the exposed femoral vein Before the test is made, in case any muscular movement such as twitching is present, the dog should receive by intravenous injection a sufficient dose of curare, but if the animal is deeply anaesthetised, this is not necessary The dog should also receive a sufficient dose of atropine sulphate (from 0 001 Gm to 0 002 Gm), to paralyse the vagi, this paralysis being proved by electrical stimulation Injections must be made at regular intervals of approximately 5 minutes

Determine the amount of standard solution necessary to cause a rise in blood-pressure from 30 to 60 mm of mercury by injecting intravenously varying doses of the solution and after a satisfactory dose has been ascertained, the uniformity of re-action should be tested by the injection of two or more doses of equal size If these injections produce approximately equal increases in blood-pressure, alternate injections of the solution to be tested and of the standard are made varying the amount of the unknown until two or more successive injections raised the blood-pressure to the same height indicating that the amount of active agent is the same in the doses used From the results thus obtained, the strength of the unknown solution may be determined and adjusted

PART IV A—Bills introduced in the Bengal Legislative Assembly; Reports of Select Committees presented or to be presented to that Assembly; and Bills published before introduction in that Assembly

BENGAL LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY DEPARTMENT.

NOTIFICATION

No 901L.A.—24th April 1944 —In pursuance of the provisions of rule 50 of the Bengal Legislative Assembly Procedure Rules, the following Bill which was introduced in the Bengal Legislative Assembly on the 3rd of March, 1944, is hereby published for general information together with the Statement of Objects and Reasons annexed thereto.

to provide for the restoration of the agricultural lands to the tenants alienated by them during the year 1943 owing to the prevailing economic distress

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the restoration of the agricultural lands to the tenants alienated by them during the year 1943 as a result of the prevailing economic distress

It is hereby enacted as follows —

1. (1) This Act may be called the Bengal Alienation of Agricultural Land Act, 1944

(2) It extends to the whole of Bengal

(3) It shall come into force on such date as the Provincial Government may by notification in the Official Gazette appoint on this behalf

2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context —

(1) "Collector" means the Collector of a district or any other officer appointed by the Provincial Government to discharge the functions of a Collector under this Act and includes the Deputy Collector of a subdivision empowered on this behalf,

(2) "prescribed" means prescribed by rules under this Act,

(3) "tenant" includes a raiyat, under-raiyat and a tenure-holder,

(4) "tenant", "holding", "improvement" and "complete usufructuary mortgage" have the same meanings as they have in the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885

3. The provisions of this Act shall have effect notwithstanding anything contained to the contrary in any other law for the time being in force

4. If on or after the 1st January, 1943, and before the 1st January, 1944, a tenant has transferred any holding by sale or any consideration the actual amount or value of which that passed does not exceed 500 rupees in rural areas and one thousand rupees in urban areas and if,—

(a) he applies to the Collector within three years from the date on which this Act comes into force for the restoration of such holding to his ownership and possession as he could not have maintained himself or his family except by making such alienation of his holding, and

(b) he deposits with the Collector the actual amount of such consideration or its value that passed together with interest on such amount at the rate of rupee one and annas nine per centum per annum from the date of his receipt of such consideration and the amount of any compensation for improvements effected to the holding allowed by the Collector and determined by him less the amount of the net income derived from such holding by the person in possession of the holding as a result of such alienation, the Collector shall make an order in writing restoring such holding to the ownership and possession of such tenant

The Bengal Alienation of Agricultural Land Bill, 1944.

(Clauses 5—13.)

5. When the Collector makes an order under section 4 restoring any holding to the ownership and possession of a tenant such order shall have effect on the 1st Baisakh next following the date of the order and if before that date the person in possession of the holding has not yielded possession of the holding to such tenant the Collector may of his own motion and shall on the application of the tenant, eject such person and place such tenant in possession of the holding

6. If the transferee of any holding in respect of which an order under section 4 has been made has not alienated his holding and is in possession thereof the amount deposited with the Collector under clause (c) of that section shall be paid to the transferee.

7. If the transferee of such holding has alienated the holding prior to the date of the order under section 4 the amount deposited with the Collector shall be paid—

(a) in the case of alienation by means of,—

(i) a bona fide transfer for valuable consideration,

(ii) a bona fide gift by a registered instrument or heba,

(iii) a usufructuary mortgage,

to the person in possession of the holding,

(b) in the case of alienation by means of a bona fide lease for valuable consideration to the transferee and the person in possession of the holding in such proportion as the Collector may deem fair and equitable

8. Instead of applying under section 4 for the restoration of his holding a tenant may at his own option apply for the conversion of the transfer by the sale of his holding into a complete usufructuary mortgage and in such case the Collector shall make an order in writing converting the said transfer by sale into a complete usufructuary mortgage with the transferee or person in possession as mortgagee as for a period of ten years or such a shorter period as in the circumstances of the particular case is in the opinion of the Collector justified

9. The period so determined by the Collector shall be commenced from the time when the property was possessed by the transferee at the very first instance and it would continue to the end of that period if the tenant to whom it would restore does not redeem the property by paying back the amount so determined due for that remaining period by calculation deducting the fair and equitable amount of income according to the prescribed manner for which the property was enjoyed otherwise the liability for the payment of such amount shall be deemed to be extinguished on the expiry of the said period

10. If a tenant has not availed or cannot avail the opportunity of any section of this Act his case would be treated as a complete usufructuary mortgage for a period not exceeding ten years after which it would be treated as fully redeemed property and the liability shall be deemed to have been extinguished

11. On the expiry of the period of the mortgage if the mortgagee does not yield possession of the mortgaged holding to the tenant the Collector may of his own motion and shall on application of the tenant, eject the mortgagee and place the tenant in possession of the holding

12. Neither the High Court nor any civil court shall have jurisdiction in any matter which the Collector is empowered to dispose of under this Act

13. The Provincial Government may make rules for carrying out the purposes of this Act

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The plight and misery of the teeming millions of the country owing to the horrible economic distress during the year 1943 knew no bounds Innumerable people in severe distress being in want of food used to take china, kaon, kalai, kachu, ghechu and what not and have sold their hearth and home, almost everything moveable and not infrequently immoveable property that they had and most unfortunately some millions have taken shelter into the graves However, the present Bill is intended to give a bit relief now to the tenants for the restoration of the agricultural lands alienated by them during the year owing to such untold hardship

3 (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in the Murshidabad Act, 1891, and the Indenture included in and confirmed by the said Act—

(a) each daughter of a deceased Nawab Bahadur shall be entitled to receive a monthly allowance of two hundred and fifty rupees,

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Under section 5 of the Murshidabad Act, 1891, all property belonging to the Murshidabad Estate shall descend and be enjoyed for ever by the Nawab Bahadur of Murshidabad for the time being. The succession to the titles of the Nawab Bahadur of Murshidabad and Amir-ul-Omrah is governed by the custom of primogeniture The daughters of the Nawab Bahadur and his younger sons have, therefore, no right to the Estate properties It is considered necessary that there should be some provision for their maintenance to keep up the dignity of the family of the Nawab Bahadur after his demise The Bill has been framed with this object in view

REPORT OF THE SELECT COMMITTEE ON THE BENGAL DISEASES OF ANIMALS BILL, 1944

(as introduced in the Bengal Legislative Council by the Hon'ble Khan Bahadur Saiyed Muazzamuddin Hosain, M.L.C.).

We, the members of the Select Committee to which the Bengal Diseases of Animals Bill, 1944, was referred by a motion carried in the Council on the 23rd March, 1944, have the honour to submit this our Final Report with the Bill embodying amendments recommended by us Matters recommended by us to be omitted have been printed in italics and enclosed in square brackets, and all new matters recommended by us to be inserted have been underlined

2 The Committee met for the first time on the 3rd April, 1944, and concluded their sitting on the 4th April, 1944

3 The Bill has not been altered by our recommendation to an extent requiring republication

4 The Bill was published before introduction in the Calcutta Gazette of the 27th January, 1944, under rule 48 of the Bengal Legislative Council Procedure Rules

5 The changes made by us are detailed below –

Clause 2.—Sub-clause (1).—We have included "bullocks" and "dogs" in the definition of animals in order to bring these animals under the purview of the Bill

Sub-clause (2).—We have excluded glanders and farcy as these diseases are covered by the Glanders and Farcy Act, 1899

We have also excluded the disease called 'surra" from the purview of the Bill as this is a disease of the horses which have been excluded from the present Bill.

Sub-clause (6).—We consider it desirable that the officers of the Bengal Civil Veterinary Department who may be authorised by the Government to carry on the duties of the Veterinary Assistants under this Act should in the opinion of the Provincial Government possess suitable qualifications in veterinary medicine and we have re-drafted this sub-clause accordingly

Clause 3.—Sub-clause (1).– We consider it desirable that a Veterinary Practitioner should report the fact of an animal being infective not only when he comes to know of it in course of his veterinary practice but also when he has reasons to believe so otherwise and this sub-clause has been re-drafted accordingly We have also made certain drafting changes

We further think it desirable to provide in this sub-clause that any person other than the Veterinary Practitioner referred to above may also report the fact of an animal being infective where he has reasons to believe so

Sub-clause (4).—We think it necessary that a copy of the report received by the Veterinary Assistant under this sub-clause should be forwarded by him to the Subdivisional Magistrate of the area concerned

Clause 4.—We have made slight drafting change.

Clause 6.—Sub-clause (1).—We have re-drafted this sub-clause to make it more explicit.

Sub-clause (2).—We consider it desirable that the carriage of any animal or thing referred to in sub-clause (1) through an infected area should also be allowed in cases where such animals and things are carried by any mechanically propelled vessel approved by the Government and the sub-clause has been amended accordingly

Clause 7.—Sub-clause (1).—We have made slight drafting change

Sub-clause (2).—We have omitted the provision of branding an animal as we think such a provision undesirable

Clause 8.—Sub-clause (1).—We have made drafting changes and have also provided for the seizure of animals in those cases where the order under sub-clause (1) to the persons concerned are not complied with within a reasonable time

Sub-clause (2).—We think it proper to provide that the agent of the owner of the animal seized under the proviso to sub-clause (1) may also apply for the return of such an animal.

We think it proper that the cost of isolation, segregation and treatment of the animal seized under the proviso to sub-clause (1) of clause 8, should be borne by the Government The sub-clause has been amended accordingly

Clauses 11, 14-16.—We have made some necessary drafting changes

Clause 19.—We think it desirable that the arrests of persons under this clause should be made by the Police Officer on the request in writing of a Veterinary Assistant and the clause has been amended accordingly

Clause 24.—Sub-clause (1).—We think it desirable that the rules should be made by the Government under this clause subject to the condition of previous publication and we have amended this sub-clause accordingly

Sub-clause (2) (c).—We have made certain drafting changes

New paragraph (cc).—We have added this new paragraph for the determination of the manner of marking animals under sub-clause (2) of clause 7 of the Bill This is consequential to the change made in sub-clause (2) in clause 7

Sub-clause (2) (e).—We have made slight drafting changes consequential to the change in sub-clause 8(2)

Minute of Dissent by Mr. Lalit Chandra Das, M.L.C.

The provisions of the Glanders and Farcy Act, 1899, can be extended to apply to horses, camels, asses and mules in Bengal by a notification in the official Gazette So, horses, camels, asses and mules were not brought within the purview of this Bill—The Bengal Diseases of Animals Bill, 1944 Vide Statement of Objects and Reasons of this Bill.

2 Section 20 of the abovementioned Act gives protection to persons empowered to act under it when their acts are done in good faith Section 23 of this Bill follows that section and gives protection similarly

3 The Glanders and Farcy Act, 1899, while giving protection to officers for acts done in good faith lays down in clear and emphatic terms by section 12 of that Act the liability to punishment of officers authorized to act under it when their acts are done unnecessarily and vexatiously Curiously enough there is no such provision in this Bill although care was taken to enact section 23 which indemnifies officers for anything which is done in good faith A provision similar to section 12 of the Glanders and Farcy Act, 1899, ought to find a place in this Bill or section 23 of this Bill should be omitted altogether

4 Most villages in Bengal are often full of party strife and individual animosities The provisions of this Bill may be used to satisfy a private or party grudge At the same time, Veterinary Officers may also take advantage of this Bill when passed into Act and use it as an engine of oppression and as a means of unlawful gain I suggest therefore, following the lines in section 12 of the Glanders and Farcy Act, 1899, that "whoever being a Veterinary Assistant or Practitioner or any officer of the Bengal Civil Veterinary Department duly authorized by the Provincial Government to carry on the duties of the Veterinary Assistant under this Act vexatiously and unnecessarily enters or searches any field, building, house or other place or seizes or detains any animals on the pretence that it is diseased or orders destruction of it, unnecessarily and vexatiously causes any other loss, injury, detriment or inconvenience or unnecessarily and vexatiously causes the carcass of any such animal to be exhumed shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months or with fine which may extend to Rs 500 or with both Provided no prosecution shall be instituted after expiry of three months from the date on which the offence has been committed "

5 I am of opinion that section 19 of the Bill should be omitted No power should be given to any Police Officer to arrest without warrant or without summons issued from any court

6 Section 22 of the Bill is not only unnecessary but positively mischievous No such bar of claim to compensation should be expressly laid down Its retention would encourage evil acts under cover of good faith

7 In sub-clause (2) of clause 6 of the Bill, so far as I remember, after the words "by rail" the words "or by steamer or any other mechanically propelled vessel approved by the Government" were inserted by the Select Committee The words underlined should be there in the Bill

I support Mr Lalit Chandra Das's Note of Dissent and subject to same I have signed the Report of the Select Committee

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The high mortality among cattle in Bengal due to epidemic diseases is well known, but there is at present no statute in this province to control them Action taken on a voluntary basis cannot be effective, as restriction on the movement of diseased cattle from one place to another, their segregation, and mass inoculation of healthy stock in affected areas are among the measures which must be taken to bring about a speedy control of the epidemic diseases This Bill has accordingly been prepared vesting Government with powers to undertake the necessary control measures

2 The Glanders and Farcy Act, 1899, already in force in this province applies to horses, camels, asses and mules Under section 2(1) of that Act, its provisions can be extended to apply to these animals affected with any dangerous epidemic disease by a notification issued by the Provincial Government in the Official Gazette It is not, therefore, considered necessary to extend the provisions of the present Bill to horses, camels, asses and mules

Rules.

33. (1) The Provincial Government may, subject to the condition of previous publication, make rules for carrying out the purposes of this Act.

The Bengal Non-Agricultural Tenancy Bill, 1944.

(Clause 33.)

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may provide for all or any of the following matters, namely —

(a) the manner in which the landlord or the tenant may apply to the Court under sub-section (2) of section 7,

(b) the forms of the notices referred to in sections 14 and 15, the manner of service of such notices and the amount of the process fees referred to in the said section,

(c) the manner in which the landlord's fees referred to in section 15 shall be transmitted to the landlord, the costs of transmission of such fees and the manner of payment of the landlord's fees and cost of transmission under sub-section (12) of that section, and

(d) the determination of a fair and equitable rent referred to in sub-section (3) of section 21

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Government have considered the Report of the Non-Agricultural Land Enquiry Committee and are of the opinion that notwithstanding the provisions of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, the non-agricultural tenants who hold lands under a lease for residential, business, manufacturing or other purposes are in need of better security It is obvious, however, that the degree of protection cannot be the same for all classes of tenants and it has been considered necessary to make a distinction between tenancies which are—

(1) of unknown origin or which originated from before the Transfer of Property Act, 1882,

(2) held under a written lease for a specified period of not less than twelve years,

(3) held under a written lease but without specification of any period or without a written lease but originating from after the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, in either case the period of possession not being less than twelve years,

(4) held under a written lease or otherwise for a period of more than one year but less than twelve years

It is proposed to confer permanent, heritable and transferable rights on all tenants coming under (1) Lessees under (2) should have a right of renewal on fair and equitable terms, but in case the lessor has allowed a pucca structure to be constructed on the land, the tenant should have the status of a permanent lessee irrespective of the period of occupation Lessees under (3) should have a permanent heritable right All holdings coming under (2) and (3) should be transferable on payment of a landlords' transfer fee A perversion of user or a breach of a condition of the contract should be the only grounds on which a tenant under (1), (2) and (3) can be evicted In case of tenants under (4) provision has been made for payment of compensation under certain circumstances in case of eviction

The Bill has been drafted to provide for these protective rights and also to confer other incidental but necessary rights on the non-agricultural tenants of the different classes

By order of the Governor,

RESOLUTION No 652M

Calcutta, the 4th May 1944

The annual reports on the working of the municipalities in the Presidency Division for the three years ending with 1939-40 show that the financial administration of the Santipur Municipality in the district of Nadia is very unsatisfactory Moreover, the notes of inspection of the municipality made by the District Magistrate of Nadia on the 6th May 1941 disclose that the administration of the municipality continues to give cause for serious misgivings, that its finances are in a deplorable state, that the collections continue to be as poor as ever, that the provisions of the Government of India Adaptation Order are not followed by the municipal commissioners in the matter of crediting ferry receipts and that, in spite of repeated issue of specific instructions by successive inspecting officers for effecting improvements, the municipal authorities are either unwilling or unable to improve the affairs of the Board An opportunity for improvement has been given over a considerable period, the Board having been warned in September 1941, that steps would be taken to supersede the collection department of the municipality unless adequate measures were taken to improve the collections This warning has, however, no effect and the administration of the municipality has gone from bad to worse The present position makes drastic economies in expenditure of the municipality necessary without any delay Government have, therefore, been moved by the local officers to supersede the commissioners of the municipality under section 553 of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1932

2 In September 1943, Government called upon the municipal commissioners to show cause why they should not be superseded under section 553 of the Bengal Municipal Act The matter was considered by the municipal commissioners at a special meeting held on 16th October 1943 and they unanimously passed a resolution recommending supersession on the ground that otherwise there was no chance of any improvement of the municipal administration

3 After a very careful consideration of the matter, Government have come to the conclusion that the Commissioners of the Santipur Municipality have shown their incompetency to perform and have persistently made default in the performance of, the duties imposed on them by or under the Bengal Municipal Act, 1932 In exercise of the power conferred by section 553 of the said Act Government are accordingly pleased to declare the commissioners of the Santipur Municipality to be incompetent and in default and to supersede the said commissioners for a period of one year with effect from the date of publication of this resolution in the Calcutta Gazette

4 Ordered that this resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette
